Developing Transit Leadership

Excerpts from RTAP National Transit Resource Center Technical Assistance Brief No. 22

Obviously, every organization needs an effective leader.

Yet, what are the principles that must drive transit leaders as they undertake developing the transit organization and its services, expanding efforts to provide new services or revamping existing services to meet new challenges?

Principles that can resolve rural transit dilemmas and create organizational success are to be found inside each transit leader who is truly dedicated to action and success. They include:

- Deep Commitment to Service
- Sincere Belief in Empowerment
- Firm Belief in the Right to Mobility
- Desire to Try New Opportunities
- Ethical Character; Comfort in a Visible Role
